Brief Description
In this activity, children create simple headpieces with ears to represent the animals in the story and wear them to help retell the story.

Objectives
- To remember / retell a story using dramatic arts
- To listen carefully and follow directions

Key Words
Drama, animal depiction, art project

Grade Level(s)
K–2

Materials Needed
Construction paper
Stapler
Scissors

Activities
- Cut a 2” band from construction paper to fit each child’s head. Staple closed.
- Divide the class into four groups (goats, cows, dogs, cats).
- Study the ears of each animal in the illustrations of the book. Ask students to draw a pair of ears for the animal they represent and cut them out.
- Staple the ears onto the band.
- The teacher reads the story, Oh, Crumps! / ¡Ay, caramba! At the appropriate time in the story, each animal group will stand up and make its animal noise.
