It's hot in the Northwoods during summertime. Mason knows that. Especially when you're moving to a new home like he is! He would agree that a tall drink of his favorite author's Sun Tea is a refreshing summer treat.

Amy's Sun Tea

1 large glass container
9 tea bags, any variety
1 gallon cold water
Mint sprigs, lemon slices, orange slices
Sugar to taste
*Makes 1 gallon

Place tea bags in cold water and place container in the sun for 3-4 hours. Remove tea bags and refrigerate within 5 hours of the start of brewing. Try different combinations of teas until you find your favorite. Add sugar and lemon or orange slices or a sprig of mint before serving.

Amy Crane Johnson lives in the Northwoods too! In Green Bay, Wisconsin to be exact. In summertime, she loves to sit in the shade, drink her famous Sun Tea and enjoy the wildlife in her own backyard.

Robb Mommaerts earned a BFA in graphic design and illustration from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. His degree guided him into a career in the wacky world of graphic design. Amy's Sun Tea is a treat he eagerly awaits each summer.
